

STAGE INTRO

Adam Mender is the creator and host of the popular business and leadership podcast Thirty Minute Mentors, is a nationally recognized authority on leadership, and is a keynote speaker to businesses, universities, and non-profit organizations.

Adam regularly elicits insights from America's top CEOs, founders, athletes, celebrities, and political and military leaders, having interviewed more than 500 of America's most successful leaders.

Adam has co-founded and led businesses in different industries and has written extensively on business and leadership, having authored more than 70 articles published in major media outlets including Forbes, Inc., and HuffPost.

A Los Angeles native, Adam teaches graduate-level courses on leadership at UCLA and is a lifelong Angels fan.